Ecopetrol S.A. (NYSE:EC) on active position in context of investors' investment valuation, price per shares knocked down -0.56% to $21.25 with volume of 1.09 Million.

Based on the technical ratios and trend levels showed active positions, the overall sentiment towards EC is best described as in mid of bullish and bearish. This trend has crafted a unified opinion across the trading floor and it is clear that the overall guidance for the stock is now established as knocked down. But it's not just the outlook that's being affected for the stock.

Looking forward to the ratio analysis, the co has price to earnings ratio of 10.93, which is indicating if firm is fluctuating between 15 and 25 than it lies on average position; but sometimes if it's under this value some experts consider it as undervalue security. A company with higher PE ratio is more worthy against a company with lower PE ratio.

Looking on other side, Forward Price to Earnings ratio of EC persists on 9.94. The firm has price to earnings growth of 0.65, which is a valuation metric for determining relative trade-off among price of a stock. Slightly noticeable ratio of firm is current ratio, which is standing at 1.30.

Moving toward other technical indicators, stock is wondering in considerable region as it has 20 days moving average of 0.07% and struggles for 50 days moving average of buoyant run is 7.21%. The firm presented substantial 200-days simple moving average of 1.17%. The firm has floated short ration of 4.61%. Taking notice on average true range by J. Welles Wilder, it was 0.61. It is useful indicator for the long-term investors to monitor.
