Ecopetrol detiene entregas en oleoducto

La empresa estatal de Colombia, Ecopetrol, ha comunicado la noche de este martes (GMT-5) la interrupción del "despacho de gas de la planta de Gibraltar" en Norte de Santander como consecuencia de "atacados terroristas" que se reportaron el día anterior en el oleoducto Caño Limón-Coveñas en el departamento de Boyacá.

En el comunicado, la petrolera anotó que este oleoducto provee al país con "38 millones de pies cúbicos diarios de gas natural", por lo que los ataques a estas infraestructuras ponen en riesgo el abastecimiento de gas domiciliario, "la seguridad energética" del país y "la demanda industrial" en tres departamentos del territorio nacional. De igual manera, remarcó los "daños irreversibles al medio ambiente" que se producen con estas agresiones.

El día anterior a las 14:40 hora local, la compañía Cenit, filial de Ecopetrol, reportó un atentado con dinamita a la infraestructura que tiene una extensión de 771 kilómetros.
