

Home › News › Vitol to Supply LNG for New Colombia Import Terminal Starting 2027

Vitol to Supply LNG for New Colombia Import Terminal Starting 2027

12/04/2025

Vitol will supply LNG for Colombia's new import terminal under a five-year agreement beginning in 2027, supporting the nation's efforts to boost energy security as domestic gas output tightens.

(Reuters) — Energy trader Vitol is expected to supply Colombia's new liquefied natural gas import terminal for five years starting in 2027, Bloomberg News reported on Dec. 4, citing the project's developer.

"The country currently has one LNG import terminal in operation, with a slate of new projects proposed by state oil company Ecopetrol SA and others," the report said.

Last week, Colombian state-run energy company Ecopetrol warned that natural gas supply to the country's northern and central regions could be at risk due to an ongoing roadblock at its Guajira field.

RELATED NEWS ▸

Filter news region:

US/CAN

GLOBAL

Macquarie Signs 20-Year LNG Offtake Deal with Glenfarne's Texas LNG Project

12/04/2025

YPF Targets Mid-2026 FID for $20 Billion Argentina LNG Export Project with Eni, XRG

12/04/2025

Gulf Coast Terminals Drive Record U.S. LNG Exports Amid Cooler Weather, Strong Output

12/03/2025

Argentina Moves Toward First LNG Exports with SEFE Supply Agreement

12/01/2025

Louisiana Reinstates Commonwealth LNG Permit After Court-Ordered Review

12/01/2025

UK Pulls $1.15 Billion Backing From TotalEnergies' Mozambique LNG Project

12/01/2025

MOST READ

Enbridge Begins Construction on 122-Mile Ridgeline Expansion

10/20/2025

Williams to Invest $3.1 Billion in Power Projects, Boosts 2025 Capital Spending

10/01/2025

Targa to Build 500-Mile NGL Pipeline from Permian to Mont Belvieu

10/01/2025

236-Mile Texas-to-Gulf Pipeline Reaches FID in $2.3 Billion LNG Expansion Push

10/09/2025

Hope Gas Moves to Put 1,000-Mile Pipeline Abandonment Plan on Hold

09/30/2025

PIPELINE PROJECTS FROM GLOBAL ENERGY INFRASTRUCTURE

FOLLOW US ON SOCIAL MEDIA

